

EMERGENCY MEDICINE

NIH-Funded Research Fellowship Opportunity

The Department of Emergency Medicine of the Icahn School of Medicine at Mount Sinai is currently accepting applications for July 2017 from individuals who wish to pursue fellowship training in emergency care research. Clinical and health services research tracks are available. The new Mount Sinai Clinician Scientist Training Program In Emergency Care Research will provide qualified candidates with:

Individual & Collaborative Research Opportunities

Outstanding Mentorship

Multidisciplinary Research Training

Career and Leadership Development

Masters of Science in Clinical Research

2 years of salary support

For more information, please contact us at ERTP@mountsinai.org or 212-824-8080

Lynne D. Richardson, MD, FACEP, Program Director

Jason Shapiro, MD MA & Alex Manini, MD MS

Associate Program Directors

Avis Harper-Brooks MA, Program Administrator

The Icahn School of Medicine at Mount Sinai is located in New York City. Our top-ranked Emergency Medicine Research Division is comprised of talented investigators conducting high quality research in a supportive, collegial atmosphere that promotes scholarly inquiry and mutual respect. We value diversity of all kinds.

1T32HL129974 National Institutes of Health
NATIONAL HEART, LUNG, AND BLOOD INSTITUTE