

Calling all CSP alumni and current scholars!

If you are interested in putting your health services research skills to the test, 2 Clinical Scholar alums would love to hear from you.

Kavita Patel and Basit Chaudhry (UCLA CSP '05) have been doing a great deal of work with alternative payment models and value-based care and in working with health care systems, specialty practices, they are trying to form a team of great physician-researchers who can help these systems/practices/doctors better understand their own performance data and why there is variation in care and how doctors can learn more about succeeding in value based payment by looking at their own performance historically in claims data. Kavita and Basit stumbled into this a bit and now there is a great opportunity to pair health services research with clinical knowledge and policy!

This could involve several hours of activity a week but even more if it is interesting and of course this is paid. If this is of interest, send Kavita an email at kavita321@yahoo.com
